Specification of Competency Standards for the Logistics Industry Unit of Competency

3. Range This unit of competency is applicable to logistics service providers. Practitioners should be capable of analysing thoroughly the regional factors to formulate regional operations strategies. 4. Level 5. Credit 6. Competency 6. Competency 6. Competency 7. Competency 8. Competency 9. Competency 9. Competency 9. Competency 9. Competency 9. Competency 9. Understand the ceonomic scale and characteristics of the services in the region 9. Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region 9. Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region 9. Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment 9. Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region on market participation 9. Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region 9. Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region 10. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 11. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 12. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operations analysis 13. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 14. Collect data and information on external business environment 15. Collect data and information on external business environment 16. Collect data and information on external business environment 17. Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 18. Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 19. Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 19. Analyse and understand the company is strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 19. Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company and market conditions	1. Title	Formulate regional operations strategies capable of analysing thoroughly the regional factors to formulate regional operations strategies. 5. Credit 6 (ffor reference only) 6. Competency 6. I Knowledge of regional operations strategies • Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region • Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region • Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region • Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment • Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment • Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation • Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, I'l infrastructure and manpower training of the region • Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region • Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region • Master the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region • Master the told and information on external business environment • Collect data and information on external business environment • Collect data and information on external business environment • Collect data and information on internal business environment • Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company is strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company is strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company is strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company is strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the company is trengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and un
4. Level 5 5. Credit 6 (for reference only) 6. Competency 6. It Knowledge of regional operations strategies 9. Understand operations strategies 9. Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region 9. Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region 9. Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment 9. Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment 9. Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation 9. Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region 9. Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region 9. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 9. Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region 9. Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis 9. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operations analysis 9. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 10. Formulate regional operations strategies 11. Collect data and information on external business environment 12. Collect data and information on internal business environment 13. Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 14. Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company 15. Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required 16. Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 16. Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction 18. Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies t	3. Range	This unit of competency is applicable to logistics service providers. Practitioners should be
5. Credit 6 (for reference only) 6. Competency 6. Competency 6. I Knowledge of regional operations strategies • Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region • Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region • Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region • Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment • Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region on market participation • Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation • Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region • Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region • Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region • Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region • Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis of Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operating policies of 2.2 Formulate regional operations strategies • Collect data and information on external business environment • Collect data and information on internal business environment • Collect data and information on internal business environment • Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats • Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company • Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region • Recommend different strategic operations directions • Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required • Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies • Assess whether the existing servi	_	capable of analysing thoroughly the regional factors to formulate regional operations strategies.
6. Competency 6. 1 Knowledge of regional operations strategies 9. Understand operations strategies 9. Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region 9. Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region 9. Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment 10. Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region on market participation 10. Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation 11. Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region 12. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 13. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 14. Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region 15. Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis 16. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operations analysis 16. Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operations strategies 16. Collect data and information on external business environment 16. Collect data and information on internal business environment 17. Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats 18. Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company 19. Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different strategic operations directions 10. Recommend different strategic operations directions 11. Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company 19. Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different strategic operations directions 18. Analyse and anothers and the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company and market conditions 18. Analyse a	4. Level	5
6.1 Knowledge of regional operations strategies Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region Understand the peopolitics and social culture of the region Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region on market participation Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management dire	5. Credit	6 (for reference only)
 Understand operations strategies Understand the economic scale and characteristics of the services in the region Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whethe	6. Competency	Performance Requirements:
 Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus requir		6.1 Knowledge of regional operations strategies
 Understand the economic development and cargo handling needs of the region Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend effective operat		Understand operations strategies
 Understand the geopolitics and social culture of the region Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on external business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business		The state of the s
Understand the regional government's policies on logistics, infrastructure and investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in p investment Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place
 Understand goods sources, types and values of products in the region Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 5.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management theretion Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs
 Understand the business environment and restrictions of the region on market participation Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective opera
 Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations mod
 Master the transportation, wharf warehousing, distribution, IT infrastructure and manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management to treetion Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies<
 manpower training of the region Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Master the company's connection with partners, agents and operators in the region Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Master the calculations of time, space and cost in the region Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Understand the locations, connecting routes and methods of logistics service points, warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 warehouses, and production sites/sales points in the region Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
 Master the use of analytical tools such as statistical methods and operations analysis Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Analyse data and information on internal business environment Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Understand the relationship between regional logistics solutions and operating policies 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 6.2 Formulate regional operations strategies Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Collect data and information on external business environment Collect data and information on internal business environment Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Collect data and information Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Analyse data and information Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Analyse and understand the company's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Analyse and understand the direction of the short-, mid-, and long-term development of the company Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Understand restrictions on operation, such as licensing, fees and environmental protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
 Protection, of different governments in the region Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		1
 Recommend different strategic operations directions Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Analyse and assess the advantages of different operations strategies and the resources thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 thus required Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		T 2
 Formulate appropriate business management policy with reference to the company and market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 market conditions 6.3 Review regional operations strategies Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		•
 Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		market conditions
 Recommend new services or modify the existing ones to cope with the business management direction Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies 		Assess whether the existing services can cope with the business management policy
 Examine the business direction of customers and make use of the operations strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies to meet their needs Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Make use of the global and regional operations strategies to meet the needs of customers if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 if the company has global or regional operations strategies in place Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
 Recommend effective operations modes and strategies
•
Compile reports to illustrate regional operations strategies		Compile reports to illustrate regional operations strategies

Specification of Competency Standards for the Logistics Industry Unit of Competency

7. Assessment	The integrated outcome requirements of this unit of competency are:
Criteria	Capable of analysing thoroughly the factors for formulating regional operations strategies and corporate business policy, and recommending appropriate operations strategies
	Capable of reviewing regional operations strategies
	Capable of compiling reports to illustrate regional operations strategies
8. Remarks	This UoC is adapted from the Logistics UoC LOCUOM502A