

Specification of Competency Standards
for the Manufacturing Technology.
Unit of Competency.

Functional Area - Marketing, Sales and Customer Management

Title	Apply relevant environmental standards and regulations for products to assess capability of enterprises / suppliers in meeting environmental requirements
Code	106383L4
Range	This unit of competency is applicable to the marketing, sales and customer management departments / marketing departments and supply chain management departments of companies in the manufacturing technology industry. Practitioners should be capable to apply the fundamental environmental standards and regulations related to products in their daily work
Level	4
Credit	3
Competency	Performance Requirements - Understand relevant knowledge of fundamental environmental standards and regulations for products - Understand relevant environmental policies of the enterprise regarding products - Understand environmental standards and policies of customers or suppliers regarding products - Be familiar with development trends of industry-related environmental standards and regulations for products, including WEEE, REACH, and RoHS - Be familiar with environmental standards and requirements for products in different countries or regions - Understand data collected from the enterprise's / production line's intelligent systems and how it relates to the data required by environmental standards and regulations - Apply relevant fundamental environmental standards and regulations for products - Able to identify whether enterprise has capability to meet environmental requirements of customers - Able to conduct preliminary analysis to assess whether suppliers have capability to meet enterprise's environmental policies - Able to accurately communicate the environmental requirements and standards of customers to relevant departments and suppliers - Able to extract required data (e.g., power consumption, water usage, etc.) from the enterprise's / production line's intelligent systems for environmental standards and regulations, and perform preliminary analysis - Professional handling of fundamental environmental standards and regulations for products - Able to ensure that customer orders or supplier materials comply with environmental regulations and the enterprise's established environmental policies
Assessment Criteria	The integrated outcome requirements of this unit of competency are: - Able to conduct a preliminary analysis to assess whether the enterprise has the capability to meet the environmental requirements of customers - Able to analyse whether suppliers have the capability to meet the enterprise's environmental policy requirements
Remark	This is the updated version of UoC 106383L3

